Compliance to European WEEE Directive

All ferrite parts manufactured by Ceramic Magnetics are exempt from the WEEE Directive (Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment). This directive requires producers to pay for electronic and electrical equipment recycling in an effort to reduce the landfill disposal of electronic equipment. The WEEE Directive applies only to standalone products. These are products that function entirely on their own and are not a part of another piece of equipment. Since Ceramic Magnetics only produces components, it is exempt for the WEEE Directive.
